NOTED CARTOONIST AND HUMORIST TALKS ABOUT HIMSELF.

Pitt Parker, famous cartoonist and humorist, who will appear soon at the Chautauqua, was recently asked about himself by a newspaper reporter and his reply was characteristically Parkesque. He said:

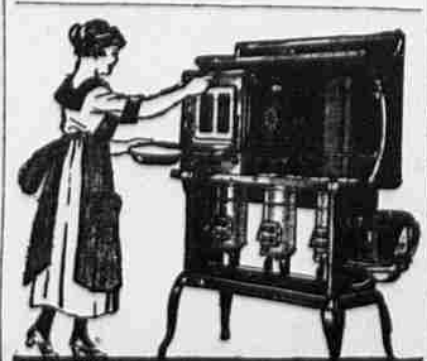

"I have been present at every performance given by Mr. Parker during the past fifteen years, and at many previous to that time. To say that I took the keenest delight in them all would hardly be true. Speaking frankly, I have never attended one of his performances without going away thinking I could do much better, and frequently I have succeeded in doing it. I may be a trifle critical but I have seen him with crayon in hand before a refined and intelligent audience make a mark, followed by a remark, and then proceed to 'rub it in.' He seems confined to no particular line, for he draws all conceivable kinds, leaving it for the audience to draw conclusions. Some might think his work rather superficial because so much of it appears only on the surface, yet the large number of towns in which he has appeared but once proves that his work is not forgotten. Possibly he shows the best form in his clay modeling in which he features clay faces while he faces clay features. 'Personally I am quite fond of Mr. Parker and anticipate the pleasure of being present at many more entertainments given by him.'"

He Threw Away His Crutches

"Six years ago I had rheumatism so bad I was going on crutches," writes August Strandell, Sister Bay, Wis. "I tried several medicines and doctors and got no relief. Three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills cured me. I threw away my crutches." Have no equal for weak, sore, aching back, muscles or joints. Sold everywhere.

A reputation for wit merely consists of cultivating people who think you funny.

BREEDING CHICKENS ON COMMUNITY PLAN.

In some communities the practice is followed of choosing one breed and sticking to it.

There is the advantage of shipping. A crate of uniform size and breed looks well. A community can send a carload, and by shipping a car get higher prices and lower freight rate than when the individual ships.

Then there is more interest in the breed which your neighbor is growing. The poultry crank enthralls his neighbors; he will persuade them to get a good poultry judge to come and go over their flocks. The community can afford the fifty to a hundred dollars this would probably cost for a good judge, where the individual might not be able to pay the bill.

Poultry clubs and breed clubs are doing on a long-distance scale what the community can do near at hand. For example, the Rhode Island Red club has created a fund to give publicity to their breed. They have secured a secretary to look after their interests, and are enlisting all of their members in a publicity campaign. They tell them to "obtain and tabulate all facts favorable to Rhode Island Reds, such as high egg records, early maturity, vitality, etc., and give these facts the widest possible publicity. Check up on all egg contests and give publicity to any facts established that are favorable to the Rhode Island Reds. Secure in writing the opinions of government experts as to the merits of the Reds," etc., etc.

We all remember the boom the White Orpingtons had several years ago through the extravagant advertising of one breeder, and the publicity he gave his customers' records as well as his own.

There is profit in getting together and making yourself heard when things worth while are accomplished.

RUBBER FACTORIES IN INDIA RESEMBLE AN ORDINARY DAIRY

In southern India a factory at which high-grade rubber is made resembles a dairy. The milklake appearance of the latex adding to this illusion, as well as the precautions taken to insure absolute cleanliness. One of two methods of manufacture is generally adopted. If the estate is young and only a few trees are being tapped the rubber is made in the form of biscuits or sheets. The biscuits are placed on racks in a warm room or an artificial dryer and allowed to remain there until dry. The finished biscuits are pale amber-colored and transparent, and for this reason are popular on the market, for their purity and freedom from dirt can be judged by holding them to the light and looking through them.

"Everything Lovely and the Goose Hangs High"

The most popular explanation of the origin of the expression "Everything is lovely and the goose hangs high," is this: That it comes from the southern country amusement known as "goose pulling." A goose, its neck carefully plucked and well greased, was hung by its feet to a branch of a tree. The men would ride past at a gallop, trying to catch it by the neck and pull its head off. The better the goose was in dodging the greater the fun. When the goose hung high, so that the competitors had to stand in their stirrups to grasp at it, the joy was greatest. Another suggested origin is that it refers to the fact that wild geese fly in clear weather; this explanation would change "hangs" to "honks."

A man is relieved and gay when he has put his heart into his work and done his best; but what he has said and done otherwise, shall give him no peace.—Buddha.

Free American labor knows that bolshevism is the worst enemy free labor can have anywhere.

The war cost $197,000,000,000, of which Germany will pay the largest share and get the least benefit.

With candy so high and flowers so expensive, the cheapest way out for the swain is to marry the girl.

Unfortunately it is too often the case that the first job a returned soldier has is the job of finding one.

The finest cure for bolshevism that can be conceived is cold lead, internally administered, in liberal doses.

The sleeping sickness, as we understand it, is merely old-fashioned spring fever carried to its logical conclusion.

CAPTAIN LAUGHTER Hello! Captain Laughter, With that sunshine on your face, You're a bubble, you're a glimmer, From a far and fairy place. You are what men think of morning, You are what they think of noon, You are April, and thereafter, You are roses of the June! Hello! Captain Laughter, With your gay brigades of smile, You're a rainbow on the hillside, You're a blossom down the mile. You are what the world has longed for, You are what the ages need, You're a gospel and psalter, You're a rubric and a creed! Hello! Captain Laughter, With that light heart all your own On the winds of spring's elation Like a breath of gladness blown, You're the answer to our aching, You are what we think of old quest; You are glory, you are comfort, You are peace and you are rest! Hello! Captain Laughter, With that twinkle in your eyes, You're a sunbeam in the shadows, You're a lark along the skies. You are medicine, elixir, You are love on lightning wing; You are hope and truth and courage, You're the twin of Captain Spring! —Geo. McGulgan.

Out This Out and Take It With You. A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.—adv.
